CAA FIJI BOARD APPOINTS CHIEF EXECUTIVE

The Civil Aviation Authority of Fiji Board of Directors (CAAF Board) is pleased to announce the appointment of Theresa Maria O'Boyle

Levestam as the CAAF Chief Executive following an extensive selection process.

Theresa Levestam has over 30 years of professional experience in civil aviation, having held numerous leadership roles within the industry and in CAAF. She has been CAAF's Acting Chief Executive for over 3 years and CAAF's Executive Manager Ground Safety for over 8 years.

Her background is in air traffic control with training in Aeronautical Search and Rescue amongst other aviation technical trainings and holds a Master's in Business Administration - General Management Degree.

Theresa Levestam has demonstrated comprehensive capabilities and competencies to be successful in the role whilst serving as CAAF's Acting Chief Executive.

She was the first Fiji licensed female air traffic controller, the first female appointed as a CAAF Executive and is now the first female to be appointed as CAAF's Chief Executive.

The CAAF Board is pleased that Theresa Levestam has accepted the role and is optimistic and confident that she will continue to lead CAAF to greater heights.

Her appointment as CAAF's Chief Executive is effective immediately.
